

NLP Practitioner Certification Training – Terms and Conditions

Please read carefully and print off a duplicate copy for your records.

1. Purpose of course

The NLP Practitioner Course is not a substitute for psychotherapy. While you may achieve major shifts and breakthroughs, the course is designed primarily to impart NLP skills to students who are already in reasonable psychological health – students with diagnosed psychological conditions or major unresolved issues may find the course too challenging. Please notify us of any diagnosed psychological problems, unresolved issues or medication that you are on before enrolling for the course so that we can determine whether this is the right course for you.

2. Acceptance of your application

Not everyone is ready for an NLP practitioner training – we want to make sure that our limited number of places go to students who will value the skills they learn rather than those who are just after another qualification. Enrolment on the course is at the discretion of Coaching Leaders Ltd, based on the information given in your application and on our conversations with you. This is to ensure that, in a small-group course, we can provide the best possible learning environment.

3. Certification as an NLP Practitioner

Participants are expected to commit themselves to attend the whole of the course. Assessment is continuous through practical exercises and also by examination. Your certification is conditional on achieving standards and attending the required number of 120 training hours.

4. Special requirements

Please let us know of any special requirements (e.g. disabilities) which we need to know about to enable us to provide you with the best possible experience.

5. Our guarantee

If you decide at any point during the first module of the course that it's not for you, we will refund your course fee (less £200 to cover materials and administration). If you have booked both parts of the course and Coaching Leaders Ltd decide you are not ready for Part II, we will refund your course fee less £360 + VAT (£423) to cover Part I.

6. Your commitment

This course is not deliberately designed to trigger your emotional "stuff". Very occasionally a participant may unexpectedly run into an emotional issue - especially in the early part of the course before you learn how to clear emotional baggage. To be fair to yourself and the other participants, we would ask you to make a commitment to yourself to take responsibility for your own emotional state and to stick with the course even if you temporarily hit an emotional 'blip'.

7. Desired Outcomes for the course

What are your goals for this course? What do you want to use your NLP Practitioner skills/qualification for?
